DAILY DEMOCRAT.

single sound of busylife, harmenized but too painfully with the oppressive stillness which pervaded the chamber whither my footsteps were bent. It was on the ground floor of a pretty residence in the outskirts of the village of C.—. Its open windows overlooked a garden where tests and be better than the to day."

"Then God's will be done," said the young man, while a holy confidence lighted up his face, nature reigned an prome—a second Eden, which extended with a scarce perceptible declination to the very margin of a stream, where it was bounded by a white picket, and by a hedge of low trimment debrabbery, over which the eye caught the fleeting waters as they swept on, glowing in the crimson radiance of the sun-set.

I entered the bouse and stepped lightly along a carpeted passage, tapped softly at the door of the chamber of sickness—aye, of death.

"Welcome, doctor," said the silvery voice of a lady, who sat by a low couch, partially hang with white drapery. "Welcome! the dear sufferer is now in a quite slumber, but must presently awake, and one of her first Inquiries will be for you."

"How is your sweet lney, now?"

"She has been quiet and apparently comfortable all day. It is her Sabbath, doctor, as well as the worshippers who go up to the certify courts of Zion. Ob!" she added, while the sunlight of consolation is the scene of mortal life and suffering, of earthly bitterness, of expiring hope."

"Yes, my dear friend," I replied, "your cup of selficion is indeed sweetened from on high. He took from my hopeless care a victim all unpreparate over a long and faithful warning; and the coven after a long and faithful warning; and the coven after a long and faithful warning; and the coven after a long and faithful warning; and the coven after a long and faithful warning; and the coven after a long and faithful warning; and the coven after a long and faithful warning; and the coven after a long and faithful warning; and the coven after a long and faithful warning; and the coven after a long and faithful warning; a read a portion of the Word, but thought was for a time engrossed.

I had known Lucy May from her Infancy, and sho was tearcely less dear to me than my own daughter. Indeed, they had grown up like twin blessoms, and were together almost every hour of the day. Seventeen summers they both had numbered, though Lucy was some months older; no brother ner sister had either of them, and hence the intensity of mutual love. Their thoughts, their affections, and their pursuits, were in some men. They called each other "sister," and their intercourse honored the endearing name.

And Clarence—the giver of this little volume in my hand—who was he? Clarence Hamilton was the son of my best earthly friend, and a nobler youth, in all the lofty faculties and ondowments of the heart and intellect, never rejoiced in the vigor of life and early manhood. To him had Lucy been betrothed for more than a year, and he was now absent from the village, though we interest when seeds the first three well. "Clarence!" said the sweet patient, opening her dark eyes and looking eagerly around. Her eye rested on her mother and myself, and with a slight quiver and a sad smile, she said, "he is not come."

"No, my darling, he is not come; but there is more than an hour to the close of day and them—"

"Ged grant he may come," said the maiden, and she added with energy, "if it be His hely will.

"The following is an extract from the official proceedings of a meeting of merchants and citizens of Louis-ville, on Monday, April 44.1:
"Resolved, That the public prints of our city be requestes to discontinue the discussion of the prosperity of this city, so far as the said prints may have connected the same with issues of political parties.

"On motion, Mesers. H. D. Newcomo, G. W. Morris, and L. I. I dustin were appointed a Committee to forward the same resolution to the editors of this city.

This was handed to us on Thursday afternoon, and has been only considered. It is addressed to the public prints generally, but the street conversations of the past week or two leave no room to doubt as to who has the honor of this flattering take a large share of it to ourselves. that we shall probe this matter to the bottom, and hold the guilty responible.

There is a large class of population which go to make up the prosperity of cities who are not protected here either in their persons or property. They have been subjected to insults and indignities for the past twelve months; they have been assailed daily by reproachful epithets in the public prints-abused and scoffed at. There is another class whose religion has been the subject of denunciations, jests, and ribaldry-not in legitimate ecclesiastical controversy, but by a prefligate pross. These citizens of Louisville have been, by lawless violence, driven from the exercise of their rights as freemen at the polls-rights guarantied by the Constitution and laws of this State-by clubs and brass-knnckles. On the sixth of Angust last these rights were systematically suppressed, and officers they had a right to choose, imposed upon them by mob law. Property that had been accumulated by years of toil and industry, was destroyed by organized bands of miscroants, and persons were abneed, beaten by scores, slanghtered, and burned up in their own dwellings.

There is now a great effort to produce confidence in Louisville, and a desire to start manufa ture. We lack many small branches of business which, in the aggregate, make a vast amount. Other cities have them-and how do they get them? Who are the working men in these branches of business? All know they were of the class who were the victims of mob vecgeance on the sixth of August last. They were the victims of opprobrium and insult before, and are so still. Thousands of them have gone elsewhere, and the delphia, Feb. 21st, is as follows: story of the guilt of Louisville has gone with "Another Secret Circular." To all those having Axes to grind:" The Know-Nothing State Council, at Frankfort have the pleasure to inform their friends (and not the public ingeneral), that their grindstones in the various counties are now in first-rate order and condition, that the cranke have all been repaired and the gndgoons well greased. No axe, hatchet, or spoke-shave, civil or political, will be sharpened or polished unless known to be made of trne American steel-nor will any work be done or permitted to be done thereon, except for members of the Know-Nothing Order, or for those who sympathize with and are friendly to that great maxim that "Americans alone should rule Amer-Numerons applications to do grinding for persons not belonging to, and of us, are being constantly made, and the State Council at Frank fort have been compelled to relax the hitherto stringont rules, and permit by dispensation (a po-pish word, the use of which our American friends will please excuse) our party workmen and ma-chinery to be used to elevate to office those who,

Yet "circumstan months. ces alter cases" and cases alter cironmstances, and were we strong enough to carry the election of all the offices in August, we should and would most certainly do so. Policy demands that we should make no nomination for the office of Judge for our Order; but that, from among the announced, we units upon that one who, though not of our company, yet like the boy has "always ran with onr to leave." And this "is grinding another man's axe on our grindstone."

There is an old fashioned cotillion called "the Coquetto," in which the lady dances with every gentleman, but turns no one but he who led her on the floor and who is her partner. The State Council advises the Order in the several Judicial Districts to dance with and to ALL the candidates; but on the first Monday in August to turn no one but he who is the "partner of our fortune and our fame." And this is another illustration of what is meant by "grinding another man's axe on our grindstone."

The bill authorizing and facilitating the con-struction of a railroad and telegraph line from the Mississippi to the Pacific, was considered.

Mr. Weller maintained the Constitutional power to construct military and other roads through the Territories of the United States. Congress has frequently made appropriations of land for such purposes.

Three hundred and forty thousand dollars had been expended to procure reports and surveys, which show that there are three or four practicable railread rontes to the Pacific. He had no preference for either of them. His main desire was to obtain the construction of a road from which such branches would omanate as the necessities of commerce demand.

The Committee having the subject in charge, propose that the Secretary of War, Secretary of the Interior, and Postmatter-General, shall advertise for bids, with authority, under the direction of the President, to select the most favorable one.
According to his calculation the money invested in such a work would yield 13 per cent. per anno a work would yield to per cent. per amoun, estimating six thousand passengers going both ways, and the decrease of the time employed will be a saving of more than eleven millions of dollars yearly. NOTICES.

Buyers of Real Estate, and speculators general-, should not fail attending the large sale of Lots, harf Property, &c., by Mr. Sam'i Hyman, Auctioner, on the premises, this afternoon at 3 p'clock. This property is some six squares this side of the Cut-off, just opposite the Harrod's creek plank-road, and exactly between the pork-houses and river. Ultimately tation from the upper part of the city, thereby saving to shippers three-fourths the amount of present drayage. Terms—one-fifth cash; balance in one-life three-life and four years, with interest. Those desiring to invest Don't fail to read the auction advertisements of Messrs, S. G. Henry & Co., in our columns this morning. "A word to the wise is sufficient."

Mr. C. C. Spencer has a large sale of Building 3% o'clock. The Lots are on Broadway, Jacob, College, First and Brook streets. This neighborhood is good, and those wishing to buy a lot should attend the sale. We learn that every lot offered will positively be sold for whatever it will bring.

Dr. PRICE'S CHRONIC SPECIFIO is the best Alterative, Tonic, and Blood Purifier ever compounded.

It is adapted to cure Scrofula, White Swelling, Incipient Consumption, Female Diseases, Upspepsia, General Debility, Rheumanism, Secondary Syphilis, Bore Eyes, and all Cutaneous Diseases, &c.

From Hon. J. R. Underwood. I have seen many of Dr. Price's patients afflicted with the Serofula, both before and after they were healed. It is certain that ulcers of the most in veterate character seemed to yield readily to his Chronic Specific. I have seen many certificates in possession of Dr. Price, bearing testimony to his entire success.

JOS. E. UNDERWOOD.

From Rev. Wm. L. Breckinridge. A servant sirl in my family was affileted with Scrofulous Sore Eyes. Notwithstanding she had medicaltreat ment, npon the whole she grew worse, until I feared that she would become totally blind. She was placed under Dr. Price's treatment, and to all appearances a radical cure was performed. For several months past she has seemed to me, as she does now, to be perfectly free from any defect or soreness of the eyes, and to be in perfect health otherwise.
